GLOSSARY OF TERMS

Spin Welded: The patented spin welding process fuses the waterway parts into a single piece underbody with no o-rings, eliminating leak points.

Snap Together Construction: Waterway parts are snapped together and use o-rings at the joints to prevent possible leaks. O-rings have proven to be unreliable over the life of the product.

DuraPro™ Underbodies: Lead free patented DuraPro™ is a plastic polymer reinforced with glass fiber. The material is strong and resists corrosion from harsh household chemicals. DuraPro™ faucets are spin welded with no o-rings.

Celcon® Underbodies: Lead free, high strength Celcon® is a thermoplastic polymer that resists corrosion from harsh household chemicals. Phoenix Celcon® underbodies are spin welded with no o-rings.

Hybrid Construction: Plastic resin and powdered metal combine to create a heavy, lead free polymer that creates durable, high performance parts that resist corrosion from hard water and harsh chemicals. Molded, single piece underbodies have no o-rings, eliminating leak points. Water conservation technology uses 20% less water without changing the water stream force. Cartridges are ceramic disc or quarter turn washerless.

Water Conservation Is Important To All Of Us

Phoenix Premium bathroom faucets have been certified in accordance with EPA WaterSense specifications.

What does WaterSense certification mean?

WaterSense is a voluntary partnership sponsored by the EPA to increase water conservation by promoting water efficient products. Manufacturers offer products that meet the specifications set forth by the EPA and are then verified through third party testing (IAPMO in our case). Currently, WaterSense specifications have been established only for bathroom sink faucets and showerheads. The EPA is working on establishing specifications for kitchen fixtures.

The WaterSense certified product must:

- Achieve measurable conservation results
- Perform as well as or better than similar products
- Use at least 20% less water than the current baseline for that product

Valterra will continue to add more water conservation products to our lineup. We are working hard to include the best water conservation technologies in our new products. The entire line of Phoenix Premium faucets feature water-saving technology and meet all existing state and federal low lead requirements. In addition, all of our Premium faucets meet the even more stringent no-lead laws effective in 2014.
